Cabinet:

This compact undercounter freezer is ideal for operations that have limited space in their workstations and will fit under existing worktables.

The cabinet is internally supported, braced and assembled into a rigid unit. The cabinet top, front, louvered grille and exterior door are constructed of stainless steel. Foamed-in-place polyurethane insulation ensures the ultimate in energy efficiency.

Doors:

The self-closing door is securely mounted on rugged cam lift hinges, which are guaranteed for life. Each door has a lifetime workflow handle and a one-piece self-adjusting magnetic gasket for a positive seal. Humidity control wires located around the door jamb prevent condensation from forming on the cabinet front and are concealed by a stainless steel breaker strip.

Refrigeration System:

The self-contained refrigeration system condensing unit is mounted under the storage compartment and concealed behind the stainless steel louvered grille. The air circulating fan and the forced convection-cooling coil are mounted behind the rear wall of the storage compartment, readily accessible for servicing. The unique airflow design permits the cabinet to be enclosed on both sides or be mounted flush against a wall. All condensate water is disposed of automatically, no plumbing is required.
