Scoring:

Inner center ring, 'Bull' scores '50' points.

Outer center ring scores '25' points.

Inner narrow band, 'Treble Ring', scores triple the segment number.

Outer narrow band, 'Double Ring', scores double the segment number.

The diagram below illustrates the value of each segment on a dart board according to the scoring rules.

Rules of Standard Play or 501:

The winner is the first player to reach zero from a starting score of 501. During a player's turn, the player throws three darts and subtracts the total from the previous score until the score reaches zero.

This game is simple, but it becomes tricky as the players near the zero score. To win, a player not only has to reach zero exactly, but also must obtain it through a "double." For example, if a player has 18 points left, it's necessary to hit a double 9 in order to win. The closer each player gets to zero, the more exciting and difficult Standard Play becomes.

Standard Play can also be started from point values of 301, 601, 801, 1001 and any other value ending in 01. This is a popular game played throughout the world.

Beginning Play:

To determine who plays first, each player throws one dart. The player who hits closest to the bullseye decides the throwing order of all players.

Thrown & Dropped Darts:

If a player drops a dart while preparing to throw, the throw does not count and the player can retry. However, if the player's arm is in the beginning of a throwing motion and a dart is dropped, then it counts as a throw. Any dart
