Troubleshooting

Before contacting technical support for help, check the following:

If the remote doesn't work when using the battery pack:

- Re-install the battery pack. Make sure it is locked in place.
- Use another charged battery pack to determine whether the remote is damaged or the battery pack's charge is low.
- Try to recharge the battery pack.
- Make sure that the surrounding temperature is between 41° and 86°F (5°C~30°C)

If the recharging station doesn't charge the remotes:

- Make sure that the battery pack is correctly installed on the Wii and Wii U remotes.
- Make sure that you have connected the AC power adapter to the recharging station and an AC power outlet.
- If the battery pack has been stored unused for a long time, it may have become over-discharged. The recharging station may not be able to recover the battery.
- Make sure that the surrounding temperature is between between 41° and 86°F (5°C~30°C).

If battery life seems short and charging takes a long time:

- Make sure that the surrounding temperature is between between 41° and 86°F (5°C~30°C).
- Battery life may decrease over time. After 500 recharges, battery life may be only 70% of the battery life when new.
