Install SIM card

- Insert card, metal face down.

Warning: Do not remove SIM card while phone is charging, or connected to AC power.

Install SIM card and connect to a network

A network provider (of your choice) will provide you with a SIM card that is key for entering the GSM network and their particular network.

First install the SIM card, then battery. (See STEP 3 for battery installation instructions.) Once SIM card and battery are installed, power-on the phone. The phone will begin searching for a registered network, or other available networks. Once connected, the name of network supplier will show on the LCD.

If the LCD prompts "Emergency Call Only", it means you are out of the network service area. However, you may still make emergency calls according to signal strength.
