Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

What's the most convenient way to view High Definition (HD) video?
Connect an antenna to the TV Input jack to view free local digital channels. You may need to purchase an antenna. (See page 5 for more information about antenna setup).
Visit www.antennaweb.org for assistance in deciding what type of antenna to use to receive the local digital channels available to you. After entering your location, this mapping program tells you which local analog and digital stations are available using a certain antenna.

Are there other ways to view High Definition(HD) video?
Besides using an antenna as mentioned above, you can also use a set-top box to receive digital video.
Contact your cable service provider or satellite provider to purchase digital programming and have them connect the box to ensure you are viewing channels in the best way.

How do I tell an analog channel from a digital channel?

Press the OK button to display the Channel Bar. when OSD (on-screen display)is not used, Look at the top right corner of the screen. An "A" is displayed for an analog channel. A "D" is displayed for a digital channel.

Note: Since the analog TV in America has been cut off, we reserve analog TV function only for some unexpected use.

Why are there bars on my screen, and how can I get rid of them?

Most digital video is sent in a 16/9 format which fills your screen, but is sometimes sent in 4/3 which does not fill your screen. It depends on how the station or device connected to your TV is formatting the video. If there are bars on the screen, Check Screen Size in the picture mode to try a different format that may eliminate the bars: Some bars can't be removed because of the way the format is sent by the broadcaster. The format changes as you choose between type in the picture mode and the format type is displayed at the bottom of the screen. For more information on screen size, go to page 8.

Why does channel search find a lot of channels, but when I try to tune to them, there's nothing there?

Some channels don't carry programming, such as video On Demand. When channels are unavailable, your TV screen is blank or appears like snow. You probably want to remove these channels from your channel list. Remove these in the Channel List Menu. Go to page 8 for more information.

Why does it take a long time when I search the channels at first time?

If you have both analog and digital channels, the TV is looking for all available channels in the channel list. If you have digital channels, the TV is also searching for scrambled channels, non-scrambled channels, and each sub-channel of that digital channel.

- The remote may not be aimed directly at the TV.
- The batteries in the remote may be weak, dead, or installed incorrectly. Put new batteries in the remote.

You are experiencing problems with V-Chip/Parental Controls.

- If the rating limits don't work, you must lock the settings. Go to the Main Menu press MENU on your remote), select PARENTAL control to check the settings.
