PROLOGUE

50 years ago, a mysterious weapon constructed from an unknown material was discovered in the remains of an ancient German castle.

The weapon came to be known as EHRGEIZ™. It was presented to the winner of a tournament that determined the world's greatest fighter. In time, it became the name and symbol of the tournament itself.

In the Middle East, under the command of a particular organization, an excavation site was constructed to explore the ancient ruins believed to hold the secret of immortality. However, the key to the final door of the ruins could not be found. Now, a legend has surfaced among the people, hinting that the mysterious stone embedded within EHRGEIZ may be the key to this door.

The ambitious, hoping to finally unveil the mystery of the ancient ruins, are now set on obtaining EHRGEIZ in the championship tournament.

Anticipation rises as the aircraft informing the public about The EHRGEIZ Championship Tournament flies around the world. The exhilaration of the participants slowly begins to pulse through the air.

THE RULES

The goal of each character is to fight and win battles against opponents that continue to appear through successive stages of battle. Freely use conventional fighting techniques and Special Attacks to weaken the opponent and win. The character who depletes the other's Physical Strength gauge completely, or the character whose Physical Strength gauge remains greater than the other when the Time Limit reaches zero, will receive one set point. If the Physical Strength gauge of each character becomes empty simultaneously or if at the Time Limit, the Physical Strength of the two characters is equal to one another, the situation is deemed a tie and both parties will receive one set point. The first character to win two set points is the victor.

THE SCREEN

1. Time Limit

Displays the amount of time left in a match. When the timer reaches zero, the match comes to an end.

2. Physical Strength Gauge (Blue Bar)

Displays the character's Physical Strength. The gauge on the left represents Player One's Physical Strength, and the gauge on the right represents Player Two's Physical Strength. The gauge will decrease as characters receive damage from an attack. A character is considered knocked out when their gauge depletes.

3. Special Attack Gauge (Red Bar)

Displays the remaining amount of energy that can be used to perform Special Attacks. The gauge on the left is for Player One, and the gauge on the right is for Player Two. Each time a Special Attack is used, or an Interrupt is performed, the gauge will decrease. When the gauge is depleted, Special Attacks and Interrupts can no longer be performed.

4. Acquired Set Points

Displays the number of set points acquired for the current match.

ARCADE MODE

This mode allows the character to fight against computer controlled opponents. A second player may choose to join in at any time by pressing the START button of the second Controller. The player who wins the match will be able to continue to fight in the Arcade Mode. Players may pause the game at any time by pressing the START button. An option to EXIT and return immediately to the main EHRGEIZ menu will be available when the game is paused.

Game Over/Continue

When the selected character loses in the Arcade Mode, the word CONTINUE will appear. If the START button is pressed before the timer reaches zero, the player will be able to continue the game with a rematch. If the player fails to press the START button before the Time Limit expires, the words GAME OVER will be displayed.

VS MODE

This mode allows two players to fight against each other. On the selection screen, by using the directional buttons, each player can select a character to be played. After character selection, the players will be able to choose the battle stage and handicap level to be played. Upon this final selection, the battle will start.

PRACTICE

Practice allows players to familiarize themselves with their character of choice by letting them fight with an unlimited amount of time and Physical Strength. To begin, the player must choose their character and the character that they want to practice against. The player may customize the battle to their specification by pressing the START button, which brings up an Option menu. Use the up and down directional buttons to choose an option and press the left and right directional buttons to change the selected settings. To return to Practice, press START. The available options are as follows:

In EHRGEIZ, regardless of where the opponent is, each character can move freely in 360 degrees using the directional buttons.

Run (⇨ in any direction)

When executed, the character will run in the direction that the directional button is pressed. The character is defenseless while running, but will be able to move quickly.

Walk (⇨ in any direction while pressing the R1 or R2 button)

When executed, the character will move slowly while facing the direction of the opponent. While walking, the character will be able to Guard while in an upright position. Walking slowly towards the opponent is a basic part of the game.

Evade (press R1 or R2 while holding down the diectional button)

This allows characters to move by rotating the body. During this time, the character's body becomes half-transparent, and will be able to evade Special Attacks.

Crouch (hold down either the R1 or R2 button)

This allows the character to lower their gravitational balance and avoid the opponent's High Attacks. This movement also incorporates Guarding against Low Attacks.

Roll (⇨⇨ while holding down either the R1 or R2 button)

This allows the character to roll in the direction entered with the directional buttons. If an attack button is pressed while rolling, the character will be able to attack once the roll is completed.

Note: Rolling does not work with the Analog Joystick.

Jump (⇨⇨ or G + S or the L1 or L2 button)

This allows the character to jump in the direction entered with the directional buttons. The longer the directional button is held down, the higher the jump. If an attack button is pressed while jumping, the character will perform a Jump Attack.

Note: While using the Analog Joystick, characters cannot use the directional buttons to jump.

Step (⇨ while holding down the R1 or R2 button)

This allows the character to step lightly while Crouching in the direction entered with the directional buttons. The character will be able to perform characteristic attacks in this manner.

Note: Stepping distance varies between the directional buttons and the Analog Joystick.

08

Attacks listed here can be used by any of the characters.

HIGH ATTACK

This attack is performed by pressing the  or  button. This attack aims towards the upper part of the opponent's body. Characters will be able to avoid this attack by Crouching or by Guarding in an upright position.

MID ATTACK

This attack may be initiated by pressing the  or  button and the  button at the same time. Other attacks may be initiated by pressing combinations of the  or  button. This attack aims for the mid-section of the opponent's body. Characters will be able to avoid this attack by Guarding in an upright position.

LOW ATTACK

This attack may be performed by pressing the  button. This attack aims for the lower part of the opponent's body. Characters will be able to avoid this attack by Guarding.

SPECIAL ATTACK

By pressing the  button, each character will perform an individual Special Attack. Guarding has no effect against Special Attacks, but it is still possible to evade certain Special Attacks.

GUARD

To defend against High and Mid Attacks, the character can automatically block by standing upright and facing the opponent. For Low Attacks, the character will be able to defend by using the Crouching Guard. However, the character cannot Guard against Special Attacks. Guarding is also not effective against attacks when the opponent's body glows red. Since Guarding is not possible in these cases, try to evade the attack. There will also be times when the character's body will glow blue. This is to signal that the character's back is facing the opponent. Characters in this position will not be able to defend themselves.

INTERRUPT

If a character performs a Special Attack at the same time as the opponent, the character will perform a Guard and automatically counterattack. This also applies when standing on the ground and receiving the opponent's attack. Certain attacks may not be interrupted.

JUST FRAME TECHNIQUE

It is possible to perform a special technique while pressing buttons at a specific time during an attack. When these commands have been executed successfully, the point of contact is surrounded in a burst of blue energy and a "J" will show up on the technique list. The timing is different for each technique, so it is best to try various timings.

09

ADVANCED ATTACKS

By combining these functions with the directional buttons, the player will be able to perform various attack techniques. Displayed below are some examples:

Strong Upper Attack: G + H

Strong Lower Attack: G + L

Running Attack: H or L attack while running

Walking Attack: H or L attack while walking

Jump Attack: H or L attack while jumping

Body Press: H + L attack when standing in a position above the opponent

Blade Catch: G while matching opponent's sword attack

Triangle Jump: H while running towards a wall

Ultimate Special Attack: Hold down S until executed

Grasping Attack: G + H + L

When holding down G + H + L, the character extends a hand to grab the opponent.

(This will also occur when the H + L combination is performed while a Guard(G) is being executed).

If a successful grab is executed, the following types of moves are possible:

Attack From Grasping

- Throw: No moves are necessary after a successful grab is executed
- Strike Attacks: H or L repeatedly (up to 3 hits are possible)
- Rope Throw: Press directional button in the direction of the ropes

Hold Break

Hold Breaks can be performed to Interrupt an opponent's Throw or Rope Throw. When grabbed by the opponent, Guarding at a certain time will enable the player to slip through the attempted throw. For Strike Attacks, an Interrupt can be performed if a Special Attack is executed at a certain time.

Special Throw

Press all directional buttons in a circular manner or rotate the Analog Joystick once, then G + H + L. This move instantly grabs the opponent and executes a powerful throw. Unless the character is in close proximity to the opponent, the opponent cannot be thrown. If a Guard is executed when the throwing character is glowing white, the opponent may be able to escape the attack.

ATTACKS

Tackle: G + H + L while running

This move quickly tackles and throws the opponent. Unless the character is in close proximity to the opponent, the opponent cannot be thrown. If a Guard is executed when the throwing character is glowing white, the opponent may be able to escape the attack.

If a successful tackle is executed, the following types of attacks are possible:

- Strike Attack: H or L repeatedly (up to 3 hits are possible)
- Throw: No moves are necessary after a successful tackle is executed

ATTACK USING A BOX

Boxes are strategically positioned throughout certain stages. Boxes can be pushed or climbed upon. Pushing the box at the opponent is possible by stepping close to the box and executing a move consisting of the G + H + L combination. Items and weapons may appear when a box is destroyed. Use these items to an advantage.

RECOVERY

If blown back by an attack, Guarding in a timely manner before falling to the ground will enable the character to recover or avoid down time. This will also work if attacked in the air.

RISE

In order to avoid the opponent's additional attacks after being knocked down, try to rise up as quickly as possible. If the character remains in the down position for a certain amount of time, it will automatically rise.

If the player's character is knocked down, the following movements are possible:

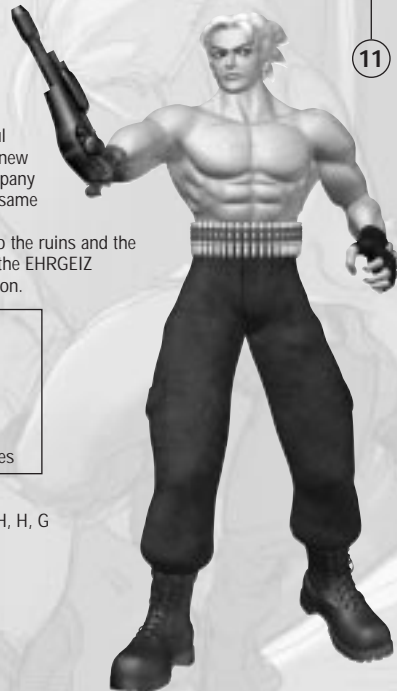

- Rise in position G
- Roll directional button
- Jump Rise G + S
- Rise, Lower Attack L
- Rise, Mid Attack H
- Head Spring H + L when the opponent is near the character's head
- Rotational Kick H + L when the opponent is near the character's legs

Note: The controls for the Infinity Battle and Battle Runner are basically the same as for EHRGEIZ. Select the Controller mode preferred at the time of character selection. Keep in mind that settings such as key configuration are set according to each Mini Game.

INFINITY BATTLE

This particular game is geared toward the individual player, and involves defeating all opponents that appear in the character's path. When the character's Physical Strength gauge is depleted, the game is over. When an opponent is defeated, the character's Physical Strength is replenished. (The amount of Physical Strength replenished depends on the speed in which the opponent is defeated). When the Physical Strength gauge becomes full, it is stocked in a heart shaped gauge. If the opponent is defeated without the character receiving any damage, the number of hearts increases (maximum of 8). Aim for the highest score by defeating as many opponents as possible.

BATTLE RUNNER

This is a Mini Game which consists of running around a circuit type field. In order to win, the player must run around the regulation course faster than their opponent. After selecting a character, the player must select their course. (When playing against the CPU, there will not be an option to select a course). The Physical Strength gauge for each character will increase and decrease according to the amount of damage inflicted or received. If an opponent receives damage from the character's attack, the character's Physical Strength increases, as well as their running speed. (Running speed also changes according to the surroundings). Attacking an opponent is one method of disrupting their course. In addition, there are items that enable the character who collects them to take the upper hand throughout the course. Strategic use of these items is the key to winning.

ITEMS

Red	RVS	Course changes direction
Blue	HPEXC	Physical Strength gauges interchange
Yellow	SP UP	The Special Attack gauge recovers

Status change is dependent upon the item collected.

22

BATTLE BEACH

Set on a beach in mid summer, these battles consist of rapid button pressing. First, there is the "Battle Dash" which consists of running through a short course and competing to see who can reach the goal the fastest. Another type of race, "Battle Flag" is a competition involving dashing and sliding along sand hills with the hopes of obtaining the flag. Lastly, "Battle Hurdle" consists of dodging obstacles while trying to finish in first place. Compete to receive a higher score than the opponent in all three events. The gauge displayed at the top of the screen shows running speed. Hit the Run buttons repeatedly. Press the Action buttons in a timely manner and aim for the best record.

BATTLE PANEL

The Battle Panel mini game consists of two teams (red & blue) competing to occupy the 8x8 field with panels of their respective color. After selecting a character, select the field and begin the game. (When battling against the CPU, the field selection option will not be available). The player will be able to change the color of an opponent's panel to their color by bracketing them between blocks of the player's own color. The game is over when neither team can place any more panels. At this point, the party with the most panels representing their color is the winner. Throughout the game, neutral panels will appear from time to time. These neutral panels can also be bracketed and converted to the player's color. To keep an opponent's character from taking over panels, try attacking them to knock them away.

THE FORSAKEN DUNGEON

While The EHRGEIZ Championship Tournament is being held, an archaeologist by the name of Koji Masuda is making his way towards the ancient ruins which have been said to hold the secret to immortality. There, Koji finds a sealed staircase. Curiosity gets the best of him as he deciphers and unlocks the seal. Destiny awaits him. This new world is best described as a foreign dimension with remnants of ancient memories. In search of the spring of eternal life, Koji is drawn through the dungeon.

THE VILLAGE

Merchant Shop - The character will be able to get information, sell and purchase weapons, armor, and other items needed to continue the journey. More items will become available as the character progresses through the game.

Blacksmith - Weapons and armor are built to endure wear and tear, but they eventually break down if continually used. The Blacksmith can repair armor and weapons to their original status. Also, weapons and armor can be combined here.

Magic Shop - This shop sells Magic Stones.

Grocery Shop - The Grocery Shop sells food items that are necessary for survival.

Hotel - At the hotel, the player will be able to do the following:

The Front Desk: The player can deposit money here.

Guest Rooms: While one character is being used, the other character will wait in the Hotel's guest room. To use the second character, simply talk to him or her, and the characters will change.

Restaurant: There is a talkative sommelier in the Restaurant. In order to gain useful information about the quest, make it a habit to talk to and exchange information with him.

MOVING FORWARD IN THE DUNGEON

To proceed in the quest, the player must defeat the various monsters their character will encounter in the dungeon by using weapons, items and magic. Upon defeat, a monster may drop an item or money. Items can be used right away or kept in inventory until needed. Money can be taken back to the Village where it can be spent on chosen items or deposited in the bank.

BRAND NEW QUEST

About Physical Attacks

Characters can be equipped with a variety of weapons with which to battle the monsters they encounter. Once equipped with a weapon, the player can press the Physical Attack button repeatedly for consecutive attacks and hold down then release the button for Special Attacks.

About Magic Attacks

Equipping a character with Materia will grant them the ability to use Magic Stones. The magical effect of the equipped Materia will be triggered when Magic Stones are consumed. Select whether the character would like to use Materia as Basic Magic or as Ultra Magic. Press the Magic Attack button once for Basic Magic, and hold down then release the button for Ultra Magic.

About Items

Each character has a maximum of 30 slots in their inventory to carry items. Money possessed by a character also takes up space in the inventory at the rate of 100G per slot. Magic Stones are carried at the rate of 50 per slot. Up to four items can be stored in a satchel for quick access. Even if a monster were to suddenly appear, characters will be able to select an item from the satchel using the L2 and R2 buttons, and use it by pressing the  button. Certain types of items cannot be carried in the satchel. Excess items can be stored at a nearby Hotel in the Village.

Escape From The Dungeon

By using "Dragon Wing", the player can create an escape route to allow them to return to the Village. The escape route remains open until the dungeon is reentered, so returning to the same location will not be a problem.

Saving

Regardless of whether the character is inside or outside the dungeon, it is possible to save gameplay at any time. On the Status Screen, select "Save Game" using the SELECT button to save game status. Ending a game will not cost the character anything, but saving a game will cost money.

Loading

For the QUEST Mode, it is not possible to load a saved game from the MEMORY CARD heading of the Main Menu. Saved game data can only be loaded by entering the QUEST Mode.

Game Over

When a character's HP reaches zero, the character will collapse. At this time, the other character which the player is not using (Clair, when using Koji and vice versa) must rescue their partner by picking up a box containing their spirit at the location where he/she had collapsed. Since Koji and Clair's status are unrelated, it is necessary to raise their levels individually. If a character dies before rescuing their partner, the game will end.
