Short description

This application allows you to use your favourite Nokia N97 phone on Web3Tel network and for any Web3Tel Distributors. It provides call-in and callback functionality for Web3Tel service (or any other services powered by Web3Tel, e.g. www.e1tele.com, www.comfytel.com) customers by using SMS.

This application is WRT applet that can be easy installed in your phone.

It will provide an access to your local “Contacts” records.

Installation procedure

WingBee Lite for Nokia N97 can be freely downloaded from company website.

You can upload our WingBee installation package (WingBee.wgz) on your device and install it through Nokia PC Suite.

Applications screen will be changed and you will see “WingBee Lite” application:

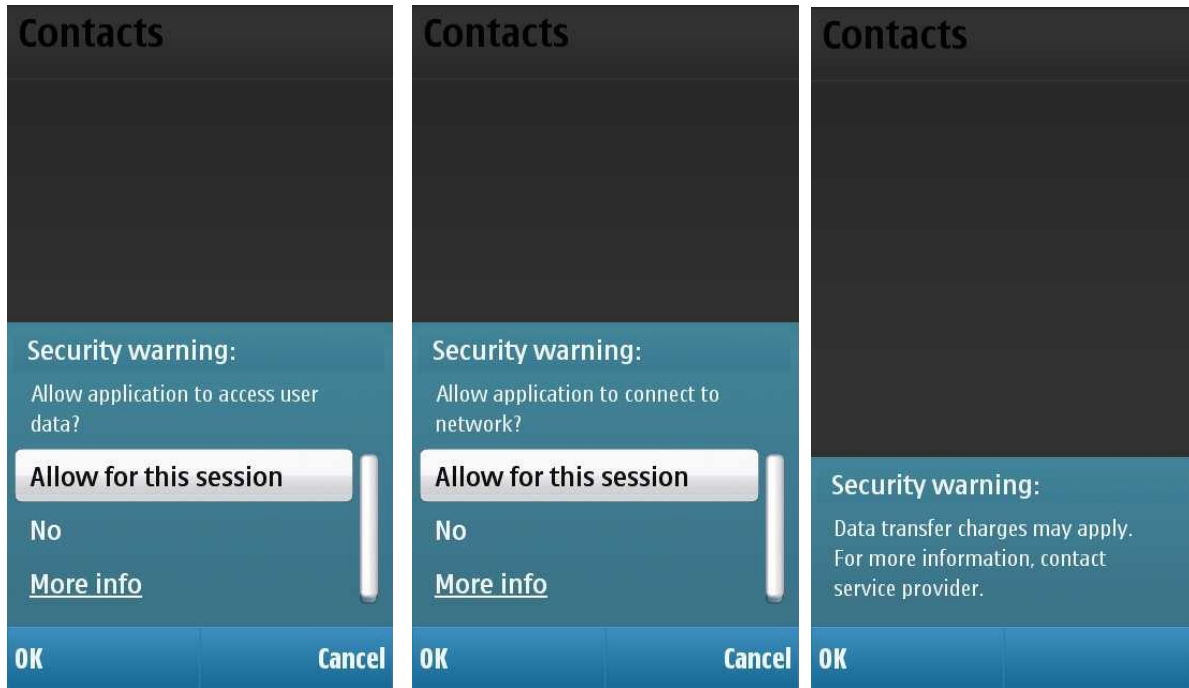

Configuration procedure

After you install the WingBee Lite you can use it right away for making long distance call.

To use an application you should have an account with one of Web3Tel Distributors.

After you first start an application it will ask you several security questions (you should accept all of them):

After you agree with all these warnings you will see the list of your phone local contacts:

If you want to make a call you need just to click on correspondent phone number.

As we described before, the main call invocation method for this application is a callback initiated through sms request.

After request has being accepted by the server Web3Tel network will initiate a call to you originated phone (in most cases your current mobile phone with WingBee Lite).

After you accept this incoming call the server will connect you with a destination party.

If you selected "Call-in" transport the application will call directly to defined access number and then connect your phone with destination number that specified for this contact.

You can use "Search" functionality to narrow the list of available contacts.
