Troubleshooting

► Support information is also available at www.palmOne.com/intl/support

► Your handheld does not turn on, or does not respond when you tap it

1. Try turning it on by pressing one of the quick buttons on the front panel.
2. Do a soft reset. Unscrew the top of the stylus and use the tool inside to gently press the reset button inside the hole on the back of the handheld.
3. Make sure the AC charger is fully connected to the handheld or the sync cable and to a working outlet. Charge for another three full hours.

► Palm Desktop Installer does not start when you put the CD into the drive

Windows:

1. Click the Start button and select Run.
2. Click Browse to locate the drive that contains the CD that came with your Tungsten T5.
3. Double-click autorun.exe on the CD.

Mac:

1. Double-click the CD icon on the Mac desktop.
2. Double-click palmOneDesktop.pkg.

► Synchronization does not begin

Be sure the sync cable is plugged into your handheld and a USB port on the back of your computer.

Check your computer:

Windows:

1. Make sure the HotSync® icon appears in the group of icons in the lower-right part of your screen.

If not:

- a. Click the Start button and select Programs.
  - b. Select Palm Desktop, and then select HotSync Manager.
2. Check the connection type:
    - a. Disconnect and then reconnect the sync cable.
    - b. Make sure there is a checkmark next to Local USB.
If not, click Local USB.

Mac:

1. Make sure the HotSync Manager is enabled:
  - a. Double-click the HotSync Manager icon in the Palm folder.
  - b. In the HotSync Controls tab, click Enabled.
2. Make sure the USB connection is working:
  - a. Disconnect and then reconnect the sync cable.
  - b. Restart your computer.

Check your computer:

1. Press the Home  button twice, and then tap HotSync  in Applications.
2. In the HotSync application, make sure of the following:
  - Local is highlighted. If it isn't highlighted, tap Local.
  - The phrase Cable/Cradle appears. If not, tap the pick list, and then tap Cradle/Cable.
3. Press the HotSync button on the cable.

Already use a palmOne™ handheld?

Did you load any third-party applications on your previous palmOne handheld? You'll have to update them if they are not compatible with your new handheld. If any of the following symptoms occur on your new handheld after you synchronize, remove these applications and contact the vendor for updated versions: handheld freezes or resets when you open an application; slow performance; unusual screen display; difficulties using handheld features; uneven sound quality.
