Product highlights

Backlight on screen
Backlighting is a feature that illuminates the LCD screen or keypad for use in the dark. The two most common types of backlighting include LED and electroluminescent (EL). Remotes backlit with LEDs are typically bright but uneven with a yellow or green color, while EL panels are smooth with blue, white or green shades.

Battery-low indication
To know in time when the batteries need to be recharged or replaced.

Simplified quick start guide
Simplified quick start guide provides assistance in setting up a universal remote control. Instead of typing in 3- or 4-digit codes, an LCD screen is incorporated into the remote to guide you through the setup. Additionally, the quick start guide provides extra information to that displayed on the LCD screen for fast setup.

Learning functionality
Learning functionality refers to the process through which a remote control captures and stores infrared signals from other remotes for later use. When device codes are not included in the on-board database, they can always be learned from the original remote, simply by pointing to it.

7in1 home entertainment remote
The 7in1 universal remote control allows you to program and operate up to 7 audio/video devices from almost any brand. The remote contains the IR codes of all kinds of home entertainment devices of almost any brand. With this single remote you can replace your collection of remote controls with one single controller.

Add extra functionality
Improved way of adding and labeling functions makes it easier and faster to add extra functionality. So, no more missing functions.
