Essential for patient compliance: usage, efficacy and leak data

1) Is the patient using their device?

2) Is therapy effective?

3) Is there any leak?

These are three essential questions in compliance monitoring. The answers indicate how therapy is progressing and signal if any patients need immediate attention.

Alerts you before the patient does

• The system enables proactive (not just reactive) intervention.

• It gathers and processes data with a sense of immediacy, on a daily basis. If therapy is progressing well, ResTraxx data helps confirm that.

• If something is wrong, you don't have to wait for the patient to call you before you identify the need for intervention.

Web-based patient monitoring: value differentiator in a competitive market

• Add value to referral business using proven technology— provide your referral partners with proof of higher patient compliance due to improved patient care.

• Improve productivity and manage patients more efficiently— compliance and efficacy data transferred either daily or historically, for access via internet anytime, anywhere.

• Improve patient compliance—early and timely intervention make a significant difference when the patient is new to therapy, as well as in the long term.

ResTraxx Wireless: unmatched benefits

• Simplify data capture—no need for phone lines, modems, cards and readers; less reliance on patients for data transfer.

• Improve staff efficiencies—reduced patient and physician phone calls; no need for reminder calls or home visits to retrieve data.
